WHAT A SPIDER EATS PER DIEM. - In order to test what a spider can do in the way of eating we arose about day break in the morning to supply his fine web with a fly. At first, however, the spider did not come from its reearwig, rolled up the fly, and at once returned to his "first course." This was at half-past five A. M. in September. At seven A. At one o'clock a blowfly was greedily seized, and then immediately, with an appetite apparently no worse for his

all dead and fast prisoners in the spider's nest. Soon after dark, provided with a lantern, we went to examine whether the spider was suffer ing from indigestion or in any other way from his previous meals; instead, however, of being thus affected he was employed in rolling up together the various little green midges, which he then took to his retreat and tea. This process he repeated, carrying up the lots in little detachments, until the web was eaten, for the web and its contents were bundled up together. A slight rest of about an hour was followed by the most industrious web-making process, and used in the same way. Taking the relative size | North and West. of the spider and of the creatures it ate, and applying this to a man, it would be somewhat as follows: At daybreak a small alligator was eaten; at seven A. M. a lamb; at 9 A. M. a young cameleopard; at one o'clock a sheep, and during the night one hundred and twenty larks. This, we believe, would be a very fair allowance for a man during twenty-four hours; and could we find one gitted with such an appetite and digestion, we can readily comprehend how he might spin five miles of web without killing himself, provided he possessed the necessary machinery.—English Paper.

HUMBOLDT'S EXPERIENCE OF EARTH QUAKES .- Humboldt, who witnessed several earthquakes, said that one never gets used to them, but, on the contrary, his feelings of dread are intensified at each successive one which he experiences. All beasts and birds partake of man's fear and seem panic stricken. Humboldt accounts for man's inability to become accustomed to, and consequently not to dread earthquakes, by saying that, whatever we have at any time or under any circumstances considered shaky, the earth has always stood firm, and when we find that tossing beneath our feet, it seems as though the very bottom of things had been knocked out .-Every time the shock is repeated, the unreliability of our only support is forced upon our attention with augmented force. Other dangers can be foreseen, and provided against, but this is inevitable and remorseless.

"BETTER LATE THAN NEVER."-This old adage was fully verified yesterday by Governor Wells pardoning a colored man named Israel Brown, who was convicted in 1859 for an assault on a white man. Brown was at that time a slave, and was sentenced to be sold and transported out of the country for life. It seems, however, that he was never transported, but was confined in the penitentiary until 1863, when he was taken out by order of Gov. Smith and put to work in the capitol grounds under guard. After some time he was allowed to go about when and where he pleased, without hindrance; in fact, he took up his quarters in the stables attached to the Executive mansion, where he has remained up to the present time. He was pardoned for the reason that there is no power to execute the sentence. We learn that for some time Israel has been drawing pay regularly for his services.—Rich. Whig.

A KING IN PARLIAMENT .- The ex-king of Hanover, a grandson of George III., of Great Britain, intends, it is stated, to take his seat in the English House of Lords, under his title of Duke of Cumberland. A curious question has been raised whether the royal marriage act, and satisfaction warranted. which provided that, without the consent of the crown, no descendant of George II. should contract matrimony, affects the family relations of this throneless king. Eight sovereigns were present at the marriage (in 1843) of the exking of Hanover, and it would be remarkable if, after all the parade of the occasion, the ceremony was invalid, and if the supposed hereditary Prince Ernest Augustus has no title to his rank or his possessions in England.

H. once, and witness- I EW FALL GOODS. ed an Equestrian, or rather Bullavian performance, that threw the ancient knights of chivalry in the shade. I saw a cadaverous looking old tellow, capped, booted, and spurred, ride into town a large Buffalo Bull, in very low order, regularly saddled and bridled; he hitched him to a post with as much sang froid as any man would the finest horse in the county. I have written to Barnum, and I have no doubt he will be looking him up soon.'

"BARKIS IS WILLIN."-It is said that within twenty-four hours after it was announced here by the submarine cable that a mixed commission of eight Englishmen and eight Americans had been agreed upon to settle the Alabama claims, there were over forty applicants for the Taking as a precedent the famous General Armstrong claim, they do not much miscalculate in supposing that the work of settling the numerous Alabama claims will afford office for lite. - Washington Star.

Constitutional Debility, and Wasting of the Frame, Consumption, Decay and Death

DR. JOHNSON, Mumber of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate of one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greater ils of London, Paris, Philadelphia, and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known, many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of wind were cured immediately. TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE Dr. J. addresses all those who have injure! themselves by improper indulgence and soli-tary habits, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business, study, society or marriage. These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Neryous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestiv Functions, General Debility, Symptoms o Consumption, &c. MENTALLY.-The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Averson to Society, Self Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced: Thousands of persons of all ages can now udge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, ner-vous and emacated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, Cough, and Symptoms of Consumption. YOUNG MEN,

Who have injured themselves by a certain practice, indulged in, a habit frequently learned from evil companions, or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and, if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the pride of his parents, should be snatched from all prespects and enjoyments of snatched from all prespects and enjoyments of life by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in a certain se-cret habit. Such persons must, before contem-

DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE. When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds that he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from app ying to those, we from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extensities are such frightful residite. ones and arms, protenes on the head, lace and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity till at last the palate of the mouth or the cones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commissers disease becomes a horrid object of commissers tion, till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings, by sending him to "that Undiscovered Country from whence no traveller returns."

It is a MELANCHOLY FACT that thou sands fall victims to this terrible disease, owing to the unskilfulness of ignorant pretenders, who, by the use of that DEADLY POISON, MY R. CURY, ruin the constitution and make the
